Statement of case. ance--The Workingmen Will Give their Answer to This Diabolical Outrage To-morrow--The Closing Days of a Spirited Campaign. The Cobden Club of England has apparently become tired of trying to influence United States elections in behalf of democratic free-trade candidates by spending millions of dollars in the campaign here, and the friends of the free-trade claimant have had to hustle about Great Britain themselves to get the money which English manufacturers are willing to give up to buy votes for their friend Cleveland, and to kill their most hated enemy, McKinley Bill. The account of the raising abroad of a great corruption fund by protection America s enemies and free-trade Cleveland s friends, has just been cabled over. The London head of a large New York firm of cloth jobbers is reported as the leader of this movement, to get together and send to America nearly half a million of British gold with which to push the course of the anti-tariff democracy and its candidate for the Presidency, Cleveland. To him and his representatives the mill owners of Bradford, Huddersfield, and other big manufacturing and woolen jobbing centers, under the representations that only under Cleveland as President could the American market be opened to them, gave freely of their money to help the claimant s campaign. The Fund Estimated. The Cleveland British fund is estimated by several wellknown...
